

Big New Red Drive Looms

(By The Associated Press)

The threat to Taegu, strategic United Nations rail center, was eased today as north Korean Communists retreated on two fronts north and southwest of the city.

Red resistance was described as light or moderate but a spokesman at Gen MacArthur's headquarters warned that the Reds had possibly 50,000 men still poised north of Taegu, abandoned this week as the south Korean provisional capital.

South Koreans made a surprise landing—the first Allied action of its kind in the war—on Tokchoek island, 35 miles southwest of Inchon, port of Seoul. A navy spokesman said Tokchoek may have been a Red center for waterborne reinforcements.

In the critical area north of Taegu, United States and Korean troops drove the enemy back toward Kumwha. Their counterattack against huge Red forces that threatened Taegu Thursday pushed the invaders back two and a half miles in three days of bitter fighting.

The Reds also fell back in the Changnyong sector southwest of Taegu which had been abandoned this week as the provisional capital of South Korea. United States Marines and infantrymen advanced under the cover of artillery fire directed at the enemy-held west bank of the Nakdong river. The Reds appeared to have given up most of their Changnyong bridgehead.

This was the scene of the fiercest fighting. American planes strafed and rocketed the Communists as they tried to flee back across the river. The onslaught from rockets, cannon fire and jet-fueled gasoline bombs pulverized the Red Fourth division. Maj. Gen. John H. Church said his men were out to "destroy that division entirely."

The United States army estimated in Washington that North Korean Communists have lost 50,000 men thus far in this invasion of South Korea. South Korean forces had lost 37,000 men up to three weeks ago, an army spokesman said. The figures include killed, wounded and missing.

The last roundup of American casualties, two weeks ago, was 2,166.

Farouk To Wed Egyptian Beauty

DEAUVILLE, France — (AP) — King Farouk's press counselor says the portly young ruler expects to marry sultry 16-year-old Nourhan Sadek in Egypt early next year.

Karim Thabet Pasha, first counselor at the royal palace in Cairo, said there was no possibility of marriage while Farouk is vacationing at Deauville. He said the 30-year-old monarch would be married only in Egypt.

The King met Nourhan in Cairo last November. The Egyptian beauty's engagement to Mohammed Zaki Hashem, a former United Nations economist, has been reported broken at Farouk's order.

Farouk gambled five hours at Deauville Casino early today. He placed bets averaging $2,000 each and won most of the time. At one point it was estimated that he had $50,000 in chips piled before him.

Unemployment Drop Causes More Jobless

NEW YORK — (AP) — Unemployment here, which has been dropping steadily, is due for a jump Aug. 31.

Since there is so much less work to do, the state division of placement and unemployment will give 500 of its interviewers the axe.

New Chilly Wave Heads From Canada

(By The Associated Press)

It looks like a chilly weekend for most of the central part of the country.

Cooled off yesterday by a cold air mass from Canada, the mid-west got another chilly batch of weather from western Canada today. The cool air spread southward into the Great Lakes region and the Upper Mississippi valley. Temperatures were in the 40's early today over some north central states.

Warm weather continued over the gulf states and most of the eastern states but temperatures were a little lower today from Maine southwestward into Ohio. Temperatures of above 100 were general yesterday in the interior valleys and desert regions of California and the desert regions of Arizona and Nevada.

Robert Must Be Promising Soldier

HAGERSTOWN, Md. — (AP) —

Robert Vidoni, 20, has just received a letter indicating there's a great demand for his services.

The letter is from a cousin in Italy who says Vidoni has been ordered to report for duty with the Italian army.

When he was six months old Vidoni was brought to the United States by his immigrant parents.

A few days ago his Hagerstown draft board notified him he has been classified 1A—United States style.

Battered, Burned Ship Fights Sea

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — A hurricane-battered freighter, its forward holds still smoldering from a fire at sea, wallowed through 40-foot waves toward Wilmington, N. C., today. Two coast guard cutters were escorting it to safety.

The 7,247-ton S. S. Russell R. Jones, first buffeted by 70-mile an hour winds from the fringe of a giant hurricane and then beset by fire in its forward holds, churned toward the mainland at a scant five knots an hour. All crewmen were safe; there were no injuries.

The United States navy ship Kleinsmith was first to reach the burning freighter after a dramatic full speed mercy run through seas still mountainous in the aftermath of the hurricane.

It reported the stricken freighter's lifeboats were knocked away by the waves but the Russell Jones showed no major damage from the heating oil tank.

The hurricane which had created havoc aboard the freighter, still had lost none of its 140-mile an hour punch but posed no immediate threat to the mainland.

Today the hurricane was about 400 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla. Its predicted course would take the giant twister along a path that would offer no threat to any land area.

Bank Credit Is Curbed To Stifle Inflation

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government has moved to curb bank credit in a new stop-inflation maneuver.

The step was taken by the federal reserve board last night when it approved a boost from 1½ to 1¾ per cent in the discount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Such rate changes usually spread to the rest of the federal reserve system.

The idea is this: When federal reserve member banks make a loan on a note, they can get the money tied up in the loan from a federal reserve bank, less a sum known as the discount rate. Increasing the discount rate thus tends to restrict bank loans.

The new 1¾ per cent discount rate is effective Monday, Aug. 21. It was approved by the reserve board and the federal open market committee, an inter-agency body, after loans and holding of corporate and municipal securities held by reserve member banks rose by $1,500,000,000 within six weeks.

"Such an expansion under present conditions is clearly excessive," the reserve board said in a statement.

It added that it is prepared to "restrain further expansion of bank credit, consistent with the policy of maintaining orderly conditions in the government securities market."

Leith Flays GOP Meeting

DETROIT — (AP) — Thomas S. Leith, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, took a swing today at the GOP's "Fighting Republicans, Inc."

The Brighton mayor objected to what he said was the refusal of the group to let him speak at the recent organization meeting at Mason.

"They didn't give me a chance to talk," Leith said, "because they knew they wouldn't like what I had to say."

"I wanted to tell them the Republican party must attract youth in order to win. Members of the party must stop acting like a bunch of gray stuffed shirts or forget about the election."

Leith said the meeting was "rigged" for the support of former Governor Harry F. Kelly, one of the five aspirants for the GOP nomination.

Kills Himself At Wife's Bier

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (AP) — Beside his wife's casket at a funeral home, Frank E. Smith, 43, plunged a butcher knife into his heart to end his life yesterday.

Smith's wife, Winifred, died Wednesday.

Detectives said a note in his pocket read:

"Forever and ever, you and me. Walk now, honey, and I will catch up to you."

Auto Races And Cowboy Star Top Fair Windup

The 17th annual Upper Peninsula State Fair will close here Sunday with two complete changes in program. Sunday afternoon at one o'clock qualifying trials in the 100 mile stock car races will begin, with the start of the 100-mile race scheduled for two o'clock. Tomorrow evening Smiley Brunette, famed cowboy comedian and film star, will be featured in the grandstand attraction with a cast of Hollywood actors and musicians.

The final performance of the colorful Avery revue, "Sensations of 1950" and Barnes-Carruthers hippodrome acts will be presented as the evening attraction tonight.

A twilight band concert by the Rock high school band also is scheduled for seven o'clock this evening at the fairgrounds.

Exhibits will be in place throughout Sunday until closing time at the exhibition building at nine o'clock. Fair patrons are assured that all displays and exhibitions will be at the fair on the closing day.

Cold weather has retarded attendance at the fair the past two days but if favorable weather conditions materialize Sunday, a new single day's attendance record may be established. With two outstanding programs scheduled for Sunday, including the thrilling 100-mile stock race in the afternoon, prospects for a capacity crowd are evident. A guaranteed field of 16 entries will compete in the stock car race.

There will be a gate charge throughout the day Sunday. Robust Smiley Brunette is one of the outstanding cowboy comedians of radio and screen. He has entertained many millions of theatre patrons in this country. Brunette started his career with Gene Autry and played many films with Autry. He has written more than 200 original songs, many of them featured on the Hit Parade.

BROTHERS KILLED

WAUSEON, O. — (AP) — Two Toledo brothers were killed early today when their plane crashed in a cornfield near Delta in Northwestern Ohio. They were identified as Charles C. Kowlsen, 27, and his brother, Theodore M. Kowlsen, 22.

The board said additional legislation to curb credit may be needed later. In another related move, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced that insurance companies, savings banks and other institutions investors now may buy up to $1,000,000 worth of series F and G government bond this year. The former limit was $100,000.

Taxes Will Be Even Higher Than In Recent Conflict

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The nation can expect federal taxes next year to reach a record high, near 50 billion dollars—an overall increase of about 12 billion, Senator George (D-Ga.) says.

George, whose position as chairman of the Senate Finance committee makes him an authority, said Congress would take up in January a "second installment" tax bill, to collect about seven billion more revenue to help pay for the fighting in Korea and to bolster the nation's defenses.

He said the second bill will include an excess profits tax on corporations, effective Jan. 1, 1951, to yield between four and six billion a year.

The seven billion measure will be piled on top of the five billion tax increase approved unanimously by the Senate Finance committee Thursday. Both Senate and House are expected to okay the pending bill. The two bills would boost the annual tax take far above the 44.8 billion record set in 1945, the last year of World War II.

The Georgian said next years bill probably would provide for:

1. An excess profits levy on corporations with possibly a similar levy on war-swollen earnings of individuals.
2. "Appropriately adjusted" taxes on co-ops, mutual organizations and building and loan associations.
3. Plugging of more tax law loopholes to prevent some individuals and businesses from escaping taxation.

Midland Sergeant Killed In Crash

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Tech Sgt. Donald Hopfer, 34, of Midland, Mich., was killed yesterday in the crash of an Air Force training plane.

The pilot, who was unidentified, also was killed and a third man, a hitch-hiker, was hurt when the plane fell near Andrews Air Force base in Maryland.

An engine caught fire and the plane crashed in a tobacco field about a mile from the Andrews runway.

The hitch-hiker was Pfc Robert Lessel, 21, of Milwaukee. He had been catching a ride home. The plane was bound for Chicago via Norfolk.

Smith To Watch Soviet Moves

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Walter Bedell Smith, the American general who spent three years watching the Russians from the U. S. embassy in Moscow, is going to be the new chief of the central intelligence (CIA).

The priority job of that agency is to learn what the Soviets are up to now. Smith, who was United States ambassador to Russia from February 1946 to March 1949, will become director of the top political-military intelligence unit late in September.

President Truman was reported to have long wanted Smith, with his background as a soldier and his service as envoy to Russia, to take the CIA post. However, Smith had been ill and the appointment awaited his recovery.

Smith succeeds Rear Adm. Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter, who will take command of a cruiser division when he leaves CIA.

While in Russia, Smith got to know Stalin. He came away with a feeling that top Russians think war with the United States is inevitable.

White House Tries To Halt Rail Tieup

(By The Associated Press)

The White House made last ditch attempts for a peace parley today in a dispute which threatened a nationwide railroad strike.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman hoped to get union and management representatives into a conference. Two big rail unions have called five-day token strikes, to start Monday and Tuesday. Steelman was working against time to halt further spread of the scheduled walkouts.

In other developing labor disputes, thousands of farm implement workers quit work and a strike of 8,000 electrical workers threatened. On the credit side, three work stoppages were ended. In New York negotiators reached an agreement today in the two-month strike of 400 CIO American Newspaper Guildsmen against the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Steelman met last night in

Horse Pulling Record Broken

A new Upper Peninsula record in the lightweight horsepulling contest was established at the U. P. State Fair here Friday afternoon by the world's championship team of Charles Roehl and Sons, Smith Creek, Wisconsin. The team pulled a 3275 pound load the required distance of 27½ feet to better the former record of 3250 pounds, held by the same team and set here last year.

The Roehl team holds the world's lightweight record of 3550 pounds and pulled every load across the line in the competition here Friday afternoon.

Second place went to Merle Armitage, of Seymour, Wis., and Eldon Brandenburg, also of Seymour, Wis., won third place. Armitage team pulled a 3100 pound load the full distance and pulled 3250 pounds 18 feet, 5 inches. Brandenburg's team pulled the 3250 pound load 12 feet. Fourth place was won by Mike Dugan, also of Seymour, Wis., with a pull of 11 feet, 6 inches on the 3250 load.

The other placings follow: Frank Grant, Clare, Mich., sixth, 26 feet, 5 inches on a 3100 pound load; Ed Heagle, Appleton, seventh, 22 feet on a 3100 pound load; Lewis Skinkis, Sabieski, Wis., eighth, 20 feet, 11 inches on a 3100 pound load; Thornton Ged-

Homebuilding Mark Is Set During July

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government reported today that July was the best homebuilding month in history.

The bureau of labor statistics said tentative figures show 144,000 new non-farm dwelling units were started in July to bring the total for the first seven months of the year to almost 893,000.

By the end of July, the agency reported, new housing activity was 54 per cent above the volume from January through July last year.

Escanaba-Channing Trains Affected

Michigan Public Service commission will conduct a hearing in Escanaba Aug. 29 on an E. & L. S. petition to discontinue train runs between Escanaba and Channing.

Friley N. Weidner, president of the E. & L. S. railroad, filed application May 15 for discontinuance of service provided five days per week by trains Nos. 1 and 2, from Escanaba north to Channing.

The commission will meet at 10 a. m., Aug. 29 at the Delta hotel, for hearing, consideration and determination on the petition.

Apply For Price Support, Potato Growers Advised

The deadline date for potato growers to apply for "Certificates of Eligibility" to have price support on their 1950 potato crop is Sept. 1, 1950, Production Marketing Administration spokesmen announced today.

All potato growers who want to be eligible for support price on their potatoes must make their application and pay their eligibility fee on or before Sept. 1. The amount of the fee that the grower must pay is $1.20 times his allotted acreage, or in the case of a grower who was not allotted a potato acreage and he plants less than 3 acres of potatoes is automatically eligible for price support. The minimum fee for small growers is $3.

If price support operations are not authorized for the 1950 marketing season, the grower's deposit will be refunded in full.

City Council Considers Bids

Old Bathhouse Here Is Sold

High bids for the old bathhouse and the former Raymond Peterson home near the airport, and low bids for two new trucks for the Escanaba public works department were accepted by the Escanaba city council at a postponed regular meeting last night.

Clifford Derouin of Escanaba bid $305 for the old bathhouse in Ludington park, the city clerk reported last night. Derouin has paid the city for the building and now is tearing down the old structure.

J. E. Goldthorpe of Newberry was high bidder with $1896 for the Peterson home, bought by the city to meet CAA requirements for the municipal airport. The house, to be moved off the property, is on the north end of the north south runway.

May Rent Police Car
Two two-ton trucks needed by the public works unit will be purchased from Northern Motor company for $4,732.56, low bid. Two old trucks will be discounted in purchasing the new vehicles. Delivery is expected within 28-30 days.

Other bidders for the trucks were Brackett Chevrolet company, $4,903.56; Escanaba Machine company, $5,470; and Coyne Sales, $5,651.20.

The council withheld decision on bids submitted on a new police car until the manager investigates a proposal whereby the city would rent its police cars. Bids were received from Northern Motor company for $1,045 and Brackett Chevrolet for $1,356.45. The police department, the city manager reported, puts about 50,000 miles on each of its two police cars each year.

Airport Improvements
No objections to assessments for sanitary sewer and paving improvements were presented last night, and resolutions authorizing the assessments were passed.
Work on the airport runway extension is expected to be completed by fall, City Manager A. V. Aronson, told the council last night. All property needed to meet CAA glide specifications has been purchased, with exception of the Paulson property, on which an abstract now is being prepared, George Harvey, city clerk, reported.

The council recommended that the city manager sell the Eversole and Birkenes property, after restrictions protecting the airport glide requirement had been inserted in deeds to the property. The city bought both pieces of property in order to remove trees considered obstructions to airport operation.

C&NW Crossing
The city manager last night was instructed to determine who was responsible for maintenance of the C&NW crossing near the Birds Eye Vener plant. Councilmen deplored the poor condition of the crossing and cited it as a traffic hazard. The manager is to report on the matter at the next council meeting, when appropriate action will be taken.

A letter from the Michigan public service commission, relative to a petition from the E&LS railroad for discontinuance of two trains running from Escanaba to Channing, was accepted by the council and placed on file. Councilmen felt the city's interest in the matter was slight, and indicated they would not protest the proposed discontinuance.

Process 302 Cans At Perronville Center Friday

Ten residents of Bark River and Harris townships processed 302 cans of produce Friday, when the new canning center in Perronville officially opened.

Green and wax beans, raspberries, carrots and peas were canned by the first patrons.

The canning center, located in the redecorated cheese factory building at Perronville, will open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, beginning next week.

Patrons are asked to make appointments with Mrs. Peter Glovacki, chief supervisor, at telephone 3406 or 3326. Mrs. Emil Martin is assistant supervisor and Elmer Kilb, steam engineer.

The center, first to be established in the area, is provided by the board of education in cooperation with the state department of control for vocational education.

Phones Girl Friend, Then Shoots Self

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(AP)—A 16-year-old South Bend boy died today in a hospital after a bullet wound which police said he apparently inflicted while talking to a girl friend on the phone.
The boy was Jack L. Bulhand. Officers said Jack's father, Max J. Bulhand, told them he found the son wounded on the living room floor of their home last night and a .22 caliber rifle lying nearby.
Jack had been talking over the telephone to a girl friend, the father told officers. They found the girl and she said Jack had complained of her going with other fellows.
She said Jack told her to "count to ten." She did, she said, and as she completed the count she heard a noise that sounded like the slam of a door and then a sob.

Psychic Income Most Important

VANCOUVER—(AP)—Higher wages and shorter hours are not the real grounds for labor disputes, Dr. J. C. Hewson believes. He told the Engineering Institute of Canada here that the basic needs of workers are intangible.
"They get mad first, and then find something to strike about," Dr. Hewson, an industrial psychologist with a firm of management engineers, lists six basic needs for a man to be happy in his job that never come up for labor bargaining. These are affection, a sense of belonging and recognition, independence, social approval, self-respect and variety with occasional excitement.

HELD OVER! THROUGH TUESDAY!

BECAUSE of the UP State Fair many who wanted to see this picture were unable to do so.

In my opinion this is a deeply moving romance (the story of a white man's love for an Indian girl)

A wonderful Action drama, a Human and Historical document. A picture that will live ON and ON—

It's recommended to the whole family

Vernon Good, 18, Of Bark River, Is Missing In Action

Vernon Good, 18, son of Leslie Good, Bark River, is missing in action in Korea, the war department has informed his father.

According to the war department telegram, Vernon has been missing in action since July 20. Mr. Good, however, received a letter from his son that had been postmarked July 30. It is not known whether the letter had been delayed before being postmarked.

Vernon, a football and basketball star at Bark River-Harris high school before he enlisted in the U. S. army a year and a half ago, has an older brother, Gerald, 20, also serving with the U. S. Army in Korea.

W-C Airlines Appeals To CAB Asks For Changes In Procedure

Wisconsin Central Airlines has advised the Civil Aeronautics Board that its proposed handling of the legal procedures for the renewal or extension of its franchise may delay the company's plans for converting to larger aircraft and it has, therefore, asked for reconsideration.

The Civil Aeronautics Board last week decided to place the matter in process for a public hearing, omitting the usual preliminary step of issuing a show cause order. The change in procedure is designed to reduce the work load of the staff, according to a CAB spokesman.

Red Tape Eliminated

Under the proposed procedure, the CAB staff would be relieved of much of the duplicate statistical analysis usually requiring several months to formulate recommendations in preparing a franchise extension show cause order. All other steps in the renewal case would remain the same.

Wisconsin Central has objected to the proposed change and asked for reconsideration on the grounds that the Board had indicated for the past several months, that it would issue a show cause order in the case. Based on this anticipated order, the company had made plans for financing and converting to larger aircraft, which the present procedure might delay, thus causing an unnecessary burden to the airline.

Would Take Year

The airline pointed out to the CAB that if it were not for the possible delay of its financing and purchase of equipment, it would have less objection to the procedural change. The various steps in the CAB hearing procedure would take approximately a year to complete and the airline stated that to operate its present equipment for another year would not fulfill the public need for service.

Present indications are that it may be difficult for the Civil Aeronautics Board to have a quorum of its members to reconsider the matter for at least two or three weeks.

Gladstone Soldier In Judge Advocate Office In Montana

GLADSTONE, Mich. — S/Sgt. Edward N. Berg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Berg, 515 Michigan avenue, Gladstone, Mich., is assigned to the Office of the Judge Advocate, 701st Air Transport Wing at Great Falls, Air Force Base, Great Falls, Montana. Sgt. Berg's duties are that of Court Reporter and Non-Commissioned Officer in Charge of that section.

Sgt. Berg initially entered the service in January 1943 at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., completing his basic training at Camp Crowder, Missouri. Upon completion of his basic training Sgt. Berg was transferred to the Southwest Pacific where he was attached to General Headquarters, Brisbane, Australia. Sgt. Berg's three years Pacific duty included locations in Hollandia, New Guinea, the Philippines Islands and occupational duty in the Far East.

After being discharged from the service in February, 1946 at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, Sgt. Berg accepted a Civil Service position with the Office of Veterans Affairs, State of Michigan working with the organization until January 1947 at which time he enlisted in the United States Air Force at Ft. Snelling, Minn.

After enlisting Sgt. Berg was transferred to Great Falls Air Force Base being assigned to the Office of the 701st Wing Judge Advocate in February, 1947. Sgt. Berg recently reenlisted here at Great Falls to fill his own vacancy.

Sgt. Berg graduated from Gladstone high school in 1940 and was active in various sports during that four year period. Sgt. Berg has the American Theater ribbon, Philippine Liberation, Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with three bronze stars, Presidential Unit Citation, Good Conduct Medal and the WW II victory ribbon.

WINNERS ALL—Margaret Kennedy, 12, Fronda Kennedy, 14, and Stanley Kennedy, 15, of Pickford and their three cows, Blondie, Penny and Daisy, were blue premium winners in the 4-H club contests at the U. P. State fair. Stanley took top honors in the open dairy division competing with old-time breeders from all over the peninsula.

4-H Youths Of Pickford Cop Honors At U.P. Fair

Baseball, dolls and comic books may while away vacation time for most school children, but for three Pickford youngsters, 4-H club work is by far the favorite activity.

Chippewa county has a right to be proud of Margaret, Fronda and Stanley Kennedy, children of the Oakman Kennedys, who won prizes for all their exhibits at the U. P. State fair.

Stanley, age 15, not only won a blue ribbon for his aged cow in the 4-H competition but also entered the open class dairy division against the peninsula's best adult breeders. The results of the open contest gave Stanley top grand champion bull and female awards.

Fronda, age 14, took first for two-year-olds with her cow, Penny, Margaret, age 12, won top 4-H junior yearling award, for her cow, Blondie.

All Three Prizes

When the Brown Swiss showmanship contest ended, the Kennedy trio walked off with all three prizes—Stanley, first, Fronda, second, and Margaret third.

Fronda entered the dress making and pie making contests, and took two firsts, while little Margaret won a blue premium for her chocolate cupcakes.

Stan has two exhibits which weren't ready in time for the U. P. fair but which he will display at the Pickford fair, September 7, 8 and 9. They are poultry and garden projects.

The two girls arrived at the fairgrounds in the Chippewa county bus while Stanley, one of the herdsmen for the county herd, arrived earlier in the week.

Future Plans

Stanley plans to be an engineer or a farmer, probably the latter. A two year college agricultural course will train him in better farm methods. The two girls haven't thought much about the future except in terms of coming back to the fair each year and walking off with honors for their domestic talents and for their cows.

And farming isn't work, winter or summer, for these three children. Competition among other 4-H clubbers, but especially competition in their own family, changes chores into games and work into fun.

Police officer Joseph I. Perow came to the rescue Thursday when a monkey escaped from one of the midway side shows at the fairgrounds. The monk led the officer a merry chase around 12th avenue and North 21st street before he was finally caught and returned to his owners.

Luecke Calls Meet On Lloyd Strike

MENOMINEE, Mich. — Representatives of Lloyd Manufacturing company and Lloyd Local 413, United Automobile Workers-CIO, union agreed to a meeting next Thursday at 10 a. m. in Hotel Menominee with John Luecke, Escanaba, federal mediator for this area, in an effort to settle the three-weeks old strike at the Lloyd plant.

Under the labor relations act, the federal mediator may request opposing sides in a strike to meet with him if their own negotiations became stalemated. The company and union held a two-day session last week but it collapsed when the two sides were unable to resolve their differences. Luecke attended one of the sessions as an observer but did not take any official action at that time, waiting to see if the two sides could agree. The strike at the Lloyd plant was called on July 28 and affects about 700 production workers and 60 non production and office workers. The union ordered the strike when negotiations for a new contract failed.

Slaying Of American Prisoners Shows We Face A Cruel Enemy

THE slaying of 32 American prisoners of war by North Korean Communist captors, coming as it has on the heels of a warning against such atrocities by General

MacArthur, shows that we are dealing with an enemy who has learned his lesson of cruelty and disregard for decency too well.

The deliberate massacre of 32 prisoners, their hands tied behind their backs, which was reported this week and verified by five survivors as a member of the squad of kill-war that such reports of infamous conduct by North Koreans against American prisoners have been made.

One North Korean captured in a counter-attack has been identified by an American survivor as a member of the squad of killers. He will be tried as a war criminal.

The Communist satellites of the Kremlin have been taught all the dirty tricks and underhanded shenanigans of which the Russian Communists are masters. We are fighting a cruel, ruthless and unprincipled enemy. The retributions that were inflicted upon the Nazis who tried the same tricks in the last war apparently have not been a deterrent to the Reds.

Pictures Are Important In Tourist Publicity

JOHN GRAY, publicity director of the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, has been engaged during the past few weeks on a picture-taking expedition throughout the Upper Peninsula.

Good pictures are essential to a successful tourist publicity campaign. In no way is this better illustrated than in the manner in which Miami, Cypress Gardens and other Florida vacation centers have attracted national attention with their striking pictures of bathing girls, palm trees, water skiers and other subjects.

The Florida publicists deluge picture and travel editors of American newspapers and magazines with a constant flow of interesting, glossy photographs. Pick up any big city newspaper and you're likely to find Florida vacation scenes somewhere on the pages. Particularly successful have been the promoters of Cypress Gardens, whose water skiing boys and girl appear many times a year in the movies, newspapers and magazines.

The Upper Peninsula has as much opportunity as Florida to capture publicity space. There are probably more special events, variety of industries, hunting and fishing activities, and other picture subjects in Hiawathaland than in Florida. What is needed is a fuller exploitation of the opportunities that are available in this region. To achieve this objective money is needed to pay for the services of expert photographers and hundreds of prints to be mailed to the many publicity outlets.

The reason Florida gets so much publicity, no doubt, is because it is willing to spend considerable money to take and contribute pictures to those who are willing to publish them.

THE CASE OF MR. CATLIN (Milwaukee Journal)

The egregious young politician from Appleton, Mark Catlin, jr., likes to seize the controls of the Republican majority and drive recklessly on the assembly floor. Dane county police accused him last week of driving recklessly on the highways, too. Night clubbing into the small hours, he traversed the Middleton road at 80 miles an hour or thereabouts, and passed a car in a "no passing" area.

Catlin struck an arrogant pose before a substitute police judge. He blandly announced he "likes to drive fast" but insisted he is "never reckless." The judge avoided the argument by fining him for speeding, which Catlin conceded without a blush.

Catlin could scarcely have claimed ignorance of the state law that sets a 55 mile night speed limit. He tried to defeat it only last year but the assembly judgment was 80-13 against him. He knew it was the law, but he, a lawmaker, "likes to drive fast" anyway, law or no law.

Catlin wants to be speaker of the 1951 assembly, if he can't be speaker he will take the floor leadership. He is the most conspicuous bidder for the top jobs.

Responsible Republicans will not want their party to be longer embarrassed by the antics of a playboy who sets himself above the laws made for other people. If the home voters don't make a change for the better, the burden will be on the party caucus at Madison to find a higher type of leadership material.

Quite A Girl

Grandma likes to sit and rock while reminiscing of the past, and a wealth of golden memories she surely has amassed. And you love the tales she tells about the active life she led, how she kept her house alone and how she always baked her bread, how she reared her brood of children and yet found some time to play—she was quite a girl, was Grandma, in her busy by-gone day.

Then it didn't take much money but it took a lot of work, and your Grandma wasn't ever one to sit around and shirk. For she cooked three meals a day and kept the place all spic and span, and she didn't mix in business, which was only for a man. Any day her gleaming household offered very certain proof, that your Grandma worked it over from the cellar to the roof.

Yet with all her self-reliant soul, she had some hobbies too, and by hand she painted china and her sewing fingers flew. She could drive a horse and buggy, and her club she never missed, where instead of bridge they played a very fancy game of whist. How she found the time to do it all, you never hear her say—she was quite a girl, was Grandma, in her busy by-gone day.

Merry-Go-Round

By TOM McNAMARA AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—It's usually the district attorney who rips into the witness, but this role was reversed the other day for Washington's District Attorney George Morris Fay. He got a rough 30-minute grilling at a closed-door meeting of the Senate "wire-tap" investigating committee.

At one point, West Virginia's Senator Matt Neely asserted that Fay was "under suspicion as much as Lieutenant Joe Shimon," the police officer who tapped Howard Hughes' telephones in 1947.

Neely was outraged by a statement that Fay had given to the press, claiming the grand jury's investigation of wire-tapping "was not a whitewash." Fay also had expressed the opinion the government could never make a case against Shimon "or anything else."

"What motive could you have for throwing cold water on the investigation the Senate is making here?" demanded the West Virginia senator.

"I had no intention of throwing any water on the investigation," stammered Fay. "You could not help knowing that the effect of your statement was to discredit the investigation here," snorted Neely.

The uncomfortable D. A. admitted writing a letter of commendation on Oct. 7, 1947, praising Shimon for services of "inestimable value" to the District of Columbia. At that time, Shimon was attached to Fay's office and they became good friends. Yet Fay's office was largely responsible for prosecuting Shimon before the grand jury.

DAILY CONSULTATIONS

Though Fay didn't handle the wire-tapping case himself, he admitted to the senators that he had consulted "every day" with his assistants and that they actually advised the grand jury they "could not see where there had been divulgence." Under the law, the grand jury couldn't indict anyone for wire-tapping unless the overheard conversations were divulged.

"Do you think Lieut. Shimon would have tapped these wires, employed all these men to assist him and use this equipment without disclosing what he had overheard?" demanded Florida's Senator Claude Pepper.

"I think it was obvious that there are chances Shimon did divulge, but on the point of criminal indictment, we have to prove beyond reasonable doubt," explained Fay.

But it was Neely who gave the district attorney the most scorching tongue-lashing. "I think," Neely bristled, "that instead of your helping this committee to carry out its lawful function, I think you have greatly prejudiced this case."

"A man who will invade the rights of people by setting up wire-tapping devices and obtaining information about conversations that are none of his business, a man of that kind ought to be in jail," the West Virginian stormed.

"Anybody who aids or abets that sort of thing," he added, "ought to be behind bars. Before this investigation is done with, you will find out that we are going to have all the evidence in this case. With the exception of murder and treason, wire-tapping is the lowest form of outrage upon the American people."

UPS-AND-DOWNS

Such was the confusion in a recent closed-door meeting of the Senate banking and currency committee on the question of controlling cotton prices that members literally didn't know up from down.

Here's how the transcript of the hush-hush session reads in part (with Ralph S. Trigg, the agriculture department's production and marketing chief, testifying):

Trigg—"Perhaps it would help if I refer to it (the price of cotton) as a minimum ceiling and not a floor. It is a price we cannot go below."

Senator Bricker of Ohio—"But it is not a floor on the prices at all."

Senator Flanders of Vermont—"It is the floor of a ceiling."

Trigg—"Yes, sir."

Senator Flanders—"And not the floor?"

Trigg—"That is correct."

Flanders—"That is all I need to know."

Senator Fulbright of Arkansas—"But that is not what he said a moment ago."

Senator Burnet Maybank of South Carolina, the committee chairman—"Well, I do not know what he said a moment ago, but that is what it is."

SOME GRAMMATICAL ERRORS THAT SHOULD BE AVOIDED

The word notorious means "having a bad reputation." Do not use it for famous, celebrated, noteworthy. Also, do not use "notoriety" for publicity.

Question: Please caution your readers against misusing the word munch. Only this week I read of a woman's daintily "munching" her lemon pie.

Answer: Munch is an imitative word meaning "to eat with a crunching sound." One may munch crackers, toast, celery, but hardly lemon pie.

Never say, "He learned me to drive a car." The pupil learns; the teacher teaches. Better say: He taught me to drive a car.

Question: Please comment on the use of devotional as a noun.

Answer: The word is not a noun; it is an adjective.

Wrong: "The devotional will begin at eleven o'clock."

Right: "The devotional service will begin at eleven o'clock."

Not, "Do not blame the error on us." Better say: Do not blame us for the error.

Not, "He will arrive at about four o'clock." Use one or the other, as: He will arrive at four o'clock; he will arrive about four o'clock.

Question: Is it correct to say, "I'm sick to my stomach?"

Answer: Primarily, to denote "direction toward." One is not sick "in the direction of" or "toward" one's stomach. Better say: I am sick at my stomach. Or: I am nauseated.

'Goldfish Bowl' Home Regarded As Death Trap In An Atomic Attack

By WADE JONES

NEA Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The glass-walled, goldfish-bowl type of modern home construction takes a shattering rap from atomic age planners.

Because glass can be so deadly when splintered by an explosion, it should be employed "only to the extent essential for the use of the building," say the writers of "The Effects of Atomic Weapons," official Atomic Energy Commission handbook.

Any easily displaced interior fixtures, together with bricks and other loose facings, are listed along with glass as potentially deadly missiles when shot through the air by a bomb blast.

The book contains a welcome score or more of lifesaving hints for home builders and buyers.

Before listing some of these a popular misconception should be cleared up:

American homes in general would have about the same resistance to blast as did those in Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Highly qualified architects and engineers arrived at this conclusion after extensive surveys and despite the popularity-held belief that Japanese homes are flimsy.

Generally speaking, a reinforced concrete shell, well attached to a frame of either steel or reinforced concrete, will give a maximum of protection.

A lightly attached wall of concrete blocks or bricks would provide almost no protection inside the building and would break up into missiles which could be deadly to those both inside and outside.

The distance of your home from the exploding bomb is, of course, a chief consideration in estimating how much damage you will suffer.

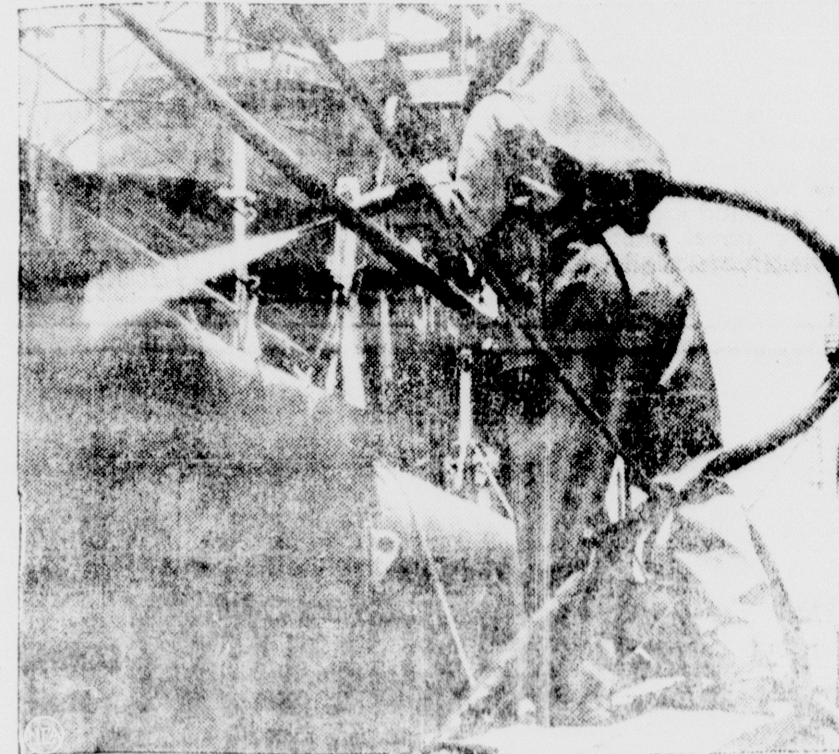

In an atomic air burst of the force and height of those in Japan, homes within a half mile of the blast would be almost completely destroyed.

At a distance of 3500 feet, in Japan, 18-inch brick walls were completely destroyed. At from 4500 to 4700 feet, some steel frame buildings were destroyed and light concrete buildings collapsed. At 6000 feet, or just over a mile, there was "severe damage to entire area." Nine-inch brick walls were "moderately" cracked.

Homes were "severely" damaged at 8000 feet, with heavy destruction to window frames and doors. At 9000 feet there was heavy plaster damage. At 10,000 feet, or just under two miles, a majority of homes received blast damage. The limit of light damage was five to eight miles.

One of the most important considerations in choosing the location for your home is the protection it would receive from hills and valleys between it and the explosion center.

Certain Nagasaki houses built in ravines running generally at right angles to the explosion were essentially undamaged. Homes at similar distances, but in ravines

DECONTAMINATION: Vital step in atom-blasted areas is to get rid of radioactive contamination. Here a submarine, used as a target in one of the Bikini tests, gets a wet sandblasting.

Letters From The People

Stifling Competition

Dear Editor:

Our city fathers are viewing the milk ordinance with skepticism, and well they may. Mayor Logan said, in part, "The consumer will pay more for milk."

Another councilman said, "Is it wise to isolate our city's milk supply?" Mayor Logan realizes with this added inspection fee, someone must pay and, as usual, it will be the consumer.

The other council members could have said (and rightly), "We will be forced to buy local milk whether we like it or not."

This is still a free country and I don't appreciate any law being added to our city laws that will force me to buy any one product.

And milk is a necessity, this ordinance, if passed, will force out any competition. By removing competition you invite inferior products and at a high price.

Our agriculture agent said, "We must protect our people, save them from pure unadulterated bacteria-free milk products." In running toward the explosion, were severely damaged.

A striking example of shielding was provided by a hill about 8000 feet southeast of the center of the Nagasaki explosion. The buildings of European type, were on the reverse side of a steep hill. There, damage was slight, mainly to plaster and windows.

But at the same distance in another direction from the city, where there was no shielding by hills, the destruction was considerably greater.

The most serious bomb danger to persons in a building is from its total collapse. The experts advise analyzing your home to find its weak points and then decide on the best way of strengthening them.

Added bracing and shoring, or new transverse reinforced walls will usually be more practical than strengthening the frame, the experts say.

Burns from the bomb's initial flash and from the fires which sprang up after the explosion accounted for more than half of the deaths in the Japanese bombings. To help reduce the fire hazard, use a fire-resistive design in building your home. Avoid wherever possible the use of fabrics or other inflammable decorative materials.

Not many people will feel like building a 12-inch thick, reinforced-concrete wall around their home, but it—plus the thickness of your home's wall—will give you about all the protection you'll need a half-mile or more from the explosion.

Well tied into the building's foundations and walls, the concrete wall will insure you against flash burn and blast, as well as nuclear rays.

The atom bombs which five years ago killed 106,000 people at Nagasaki and Hiroshima were horrible enough. More atom bombs have been built since and presumably some are even more destructive than those dropped over Japan. And now there is the H-bomb, mightier still.

But balancing somewhat this dismal perfecting of the art of mass killing are a few hopeful facts.

For one thing, increasing the size of a bomb does not greatly increase the radius of its effect. So there comes a point where the increased size of a bomb makes it impractical to deliver, both from the standpoint of its effectiveness and the difficulty of getting it to its target.

For another thing, disaster preparedness measures learned from the experiences of Hiroshima and Nagasaki can go a long way toward eliminating much of the suffering and death in those cities.

The curtain of ignorance and fear which once surrounded the subject of nuclear radiation has now been dissolved by facts. This will be a help in maintaining order and carrying out first-aid and disaster relief in the bomb area.

Recently and belatedly, after much prodding for guidance by towns and cities, the Federal government has finally started moving on civil defense measures against the A and H bombs.

Paul J. Larsen, director of the Office of Civil Defense, plans to release to state governors next month a full-scale blueprint for civil defense planning from the Federal level down to municipalities.

His department is expected to issue next month also a book spelling out for individuals what they should do in case of an atomic bombing. An OCD booklet, a new civil defense booklet, will be supplemented by more detailed pamphlets on various aspects of the problem.

The Atomic Energy Commission has completed the training of radiological specialists from nearly every state. They have returned home to train others.

Through its 2746 chapters in the United States, the Red Cross disaster service stepped up its preparedness work. In the last six months a score or more mock disasters were staged throughout the country under Red Cross sponsorship.

These disaster dry runs showed one thing conclusively. The people of the country are now vitally interested in disaster preparedness and are willing to pitch in and help carry it out.

At the request of Secretary of Defense Johnson the Red Cross agreed only a few weeks ago to become the official agency for the procurement of blood for the armed forces when the need arises.

More recently, the organization agreed with the Atomic Energy Commission to administer a special program of blood research, part of which would deal with combating acute radiation effects.

At present 24 regional blood centers and 46 mobile units are operating in the Red Cross blood program. They are collecting approximately 60,000 units of blood a month for civilian use. While this is a drop in the bucket compared with what would be needed following an atomic attack, the organization's methods of collecting and processing blood would be invaluable if a rapid expansion into a national program becomes necessary.

The program of training doctors in the various aspects of atomic medicine has been severely accelerated in recent weeks. Several cities have announced plans for training civilian doctors, and the military is conducting schools for both active and reserve doctors.

Two of these schools are in Washington, D. C., one at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital and the other at the Navy hospital at suburban Bethesda, Md. Between 3000 and 4000 persons have already been trained at Bethesda alone.

At present it is expected that the over-all defense program for the country can be completed in under two years. In case of an emergency, however, the time could be cut down to about six months, an OCD spokesman said.

I am still of the opinion we can prevent war.—Army Chief of Staff J. Lawton Collins.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE COLD WAVE—On Wednesday the newspaper duly reported that a "long range" forecast was for 30 days of warm weather. This was very welcome. That day it was pleasantly hot with temperatures in the 70's.

Thursday the wind turned to the north, the weather forecasters turned up their coat collars and predicted frost, and the folks who went to the U. P. State Fair evening show curled their toes inside their shoes to keep them warm.

We went to that show and saw what we could through the puffs of frozen vapor rising from the nostrils of the multitude. The wise ones came with blankets, into which they retired like Indians, with only their noses exposed to the 30-day warm spell.

WARMER ONES—As the show progressed in front of the grandstand and the chorus line pranced bare-legged in the frosty air, Queen Dean Taylor of St. Ignace (U. P. State Fair queen for 1950) wrapped the red velvet robes closer about her slight figure and thus prevented her queenly teeth from chattering.

Gallant Gov. Williams in a brief talk at the night show casually mentioned the cold wave but did not hurt Upper Peninsula feelings by saying that he was uncomfortable. Before and after his appearance on stage, however, he wore a plaid blanket at a jaunty angle.

Also draped for the chill night air was a young lady over on the midway, whose name we do not know. She is the one who reclines in a scanty costume on an elevated bed. Young bloods (and some not so young) buy shots in the gallery below and if they hit target center a mechanism tilts the bed and the young lady tumbles out.

The night of the big freeze at the fair the sleeping beauty was swathed from chin to toes in a garment resembling a colorful Mother Hubbard.

KEEPING TIME—The show fascinated us because of the expertise of one individual—the director of the band.

He played the piano during the so-called "production numbers" when the dancing girls were on their own and were presumed to have enough intelligence to keep in step with the music. When the comic specialty numbers were on stage he watched carefully to direct the sound effects at the proper moment—boom of drum when a comedian fell, crash of cymbals when the tumblers triumphantly landed on their feet.

But it was when the dancing horse "danced" that the director came alive. While the crowd watched the horse, we watched the band director.

With his eyes fastened on the prancing horse, the director raised and lowered his hand in time to the descending feet of the horse. If the horse slowed, so did the hand and the band; if the horse's feet went faster, the director was right there to keep the movements of the horse and the music synchronized.

Did the horse dance? No—the band played in time to the horse's prancing.

AN OLD TRICK—Such "dancing" animal acts are old stuff, of course. Elephants do the "shimmy" while the circus band keeps time. Even camels and dogs have been presented shaking a mean hip in a circus rumba.

In front of the grandstand at the fair the show progressed through another "production number"—something to do with the South Seas. This too left us cold. Not because of any fault in production, but the temperature had dropped to somewhere in the 30's.

When the "Sensations of 1950" came on the only sensation we felt was one of overpowering frigidity. So we didn't see the last of the show. But on the way home we passed a sign that invited the public to attend the fair for "Thrills, Chills, Spills."

The chills were the most authentic we have ever experienced.

This condition is not the fault of the fair board or anyone else. Year by year the fair dates have been moved up closer to Aug. 1, and if you can't expect warm weather in August—when can you expect it. Somewhere along the line the seasons are getting way out of kilter. Perhaps the men who direct the band for the dancing horse could get them back into step again.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Lewes, Del.—Jacob Morris, 84, was advised by his dentist today to throw away his false teeth and "get a teaching ring." Morris complained of soreness along his gums. Dr. G. M. Wiltbank said a second set of teeth were about to break through.

Montgomery, Ala.—Many newspaper offices have cats, but few have been immortalized by "quotations" on the editorial pages as has Clarabelle, the Montgomery Advertiser's office cat. Last night, Clarabelle died. Old age, they said, Editor Hall today pleaded with followers of Clarabelle not to give the Advertiser another cat. He affirmed: "There is no possible substitute for Clarabelle in this office."

Escanaba—Midshipman Don Holmes, third year student at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, has arrived here to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Holmes, 530 South 14th street. Holmes is on his regular month's leave from the Academy and will be at home here for about three weeks.

20 YEARS AGO

Mexico City—To encourage the establishment of automobile assembling plants in Mexico the government today lowered by one-half the import duty on parts destined for re-assembly. By this means automobiles assembled in Mexico City will have to pay only half the tariff charged for cars already assembled.

Rock Business Man Tells Of Experiences In Finland

Arvid Mustonen, Sr., Rock insurance man, has just returned from an extended visit to his native Finland.

Following is another report of his observations on the trip:

Since I wrote for The Escanaba Press, our travels have taken us over a considerable area in Finland. From Tampere we took a bus to Vehkajarvi and visited Mr. and Mrs. Vaino Selin, former residents of Rock, their daughter Elsie (Mrs. Blasted) and boys. We spent two nights and a day there. We had plans to go fishing. But they remained only plans.

Other points of interest we visited were: Savonlinna, a city of about 10,000 people, surrounded by beautiful lakes; Joensuu, a city of size of Savonlinna; Kuopio, important city in central part of Finland and also surrounded by lakes; Lahti, a fast growing city of many factories (and place of famous ski jumping hill); Orimattila, a village with several factories including a big woolen mill.

Savonlinna's chief showplace is old Olofsborg, a fort built in 1475 for protection of people in province of Savo against the Russians. It was held by Finns and Swedes, until it was taken over by Russians. Its value as a fort is gone. But with its three massive towers, made of huge chunks of stone, as well as the stone walls, small rooms, drilling grounds, etc., it gives one some idea of old times. This is helped along by the guide's talk as visitors are taken along, explaining the history, or giving the highlights of the fort.

Cold There, Too!

There are hundreds of islands near Savonlinna and most of them have summer homes with "saunas". Good swimming. But fishing was poor. We took a small steamboat from city of Lappeenranta to Savonlinna. It took us 12 hours to reach our destination. With many stops on the way and slow going through many narrow channels would have made it a beautiful voyage, except for weather. It was cold and rainy.

To give an understanding of the lakes we were on, the captain of our ship said that there are 36,000 islands in the chain of lakes, known as Saimaa.

It was our plan to spend a week or two in Kuusjärvi, northeast part of Finland and get acquainted with birthplace of my father (which I never had seen before) but some changes for our return trip called us back to Helsinki. We had time, however, to attend a wedding of one of my cousins. And also came to know many relations I had not known to exist before.

We also looked over the village of Outokumpu, where the only copper mine in Finland is. It was said to be the biggest copper mine in Europe.

With my sisters and my wife we spent a best part of a day on old cemetery of Ruokolahti (about 10 to 12 miles from Imatra). My mother and father are buried there. I spent an hour or so at their grave, alone, going over the years that have gone since I saw them last. Then, later, looking over the other graves and tombstones, I found the graves of principals of both schools I had attended while a boy. They, and their nearest relatives, were buried near my parents' grave.

There are a number of improvements needed for the comfort of passengers. And they will be coming, we were told. Some of them can be easily made. Some of them need capital. Some of the engines (railroad engines) are still fired with wood. Most of them, in fact, engines are small. All the big ones had to be taken to Russia as a part of reparations settlement.

Crops Are Good

Most of the land we saw is barren. That is: rocky and hard to clear for cultivation, and still it seems that most of the available land is cultivated. But it takes an immense amount of hard work. Crops seemed to be good, but late. But the most of the land we saw cannot be cultivated by machine.

Selective logging is helping to save Finland's forests. A lot of logging is done, but selectively. Pine seems to be the most common tree.

House, or room shortage in cities is terrible. Especially in Helsinki. When one remembers that one-ninth of the Finnish population had to evacuate their homes, it becomes easier to understand the many hardships Finland has faced and still is facing. It is surprising to see that so much already has been accomplished during these last few years. Most of people who were forced to leave their homes are already settled in new surroundings. And most of them have nice new homes, and farm work going on nicely. They have received the government's help, of course.

Living conditions are better than they were at the time I left Finland, forty years ago. People dress better now; they eat better now than they did then.

There are some questions a visiting American must answer in Finland. At least he is asked to answer them. And one is:

"Do people in America believe that Finland is behind the Iron Curtain?"

And then your inquirer starts to explain and state that it is not the case.

As I spent some time near the new border, I must admit that the foregoing statement is true. But, maybe one could say that Finland lives in a shadow of something big, unknown, which is present day Russia.

Reading a National Habit

The boundary zone is about one mile wide. In Finnish side, that is the closest one may get to the border. Just one mile. There is no way to get across the border. One just stays on his own side. Imagine such a condition existing between the United States of America and Canada? Or Mexico.

Another question deals with the welfare of the people. But as I already mentioned my opinion about it, repetition is not needed.

Then still another question is: "Does it look to you like we live beyond our means?"

That question I never answered. Honestly I do not know. But there must be a suspicion in the minds of some people that it is the case.

Another thing that attracts one's attention is the number of book stores even in a small town. And they are well patronized. Reading seems to be a national habit in Finland. Many new authors have made their appearances. Lot of translations especially from English are to be had. But, how the authors make their living by writing, is a question.

One of newest Finnish authors I came to know, answered my question by saying that no Finnish author, with exception of Mika Waltari (Author of Egyptian) lives by his writings. He must do something else or starve to death.

It is also to be noted that a Finnish youngster appears to be much more serious minded than his American cousin. He follows the national and international happenings and can well present his viewpoints of present day happenings.

One of the most common subjects under discussion in Finland is the 1952 Olympics. Station is built with its 12 story tower (which, by the way, offers a wonderful view of Helsinki). But plenty must be done, yet. Rooming so many people will offer a serious problem. Transportation, too. They live in hope to see the Olympics in Finland, but many are afraid what may happen before 1952.

William LaPalm Tows Howitzers In Korean Area

With the First Cavalry Division in Korea.—A former Escanaba man, Pic. William A. LaPalm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse LaPalm, Route One Escanaba, is fighting against North Korean Communists with an artillery battalion of the First Cavalry Division.

A member of the division since February, 1949, Pic. LaPalm is assigned to the 82nd field artillery battalion as truck driver, towing huge 155mm howitzers used by the battalion.

Since arriving in Korea, Pic. LaPalm has participated in numerous artillery battles with the K.O. Reds. As a driver on a prime mover, he is responsible for the property movement of big guns to their battle positions. Pic. LaPalm's firing battery alone is credited with destroying over 14 tanks and other equipment since they entered the battle area several weeks ago.

Pic. LaPalm has been a member of the armed forces since March 1948. He landed in Korea with the initial amphibious assault troops of the First Cavalry Division.

Escanaba Driver Receives Ticket

Jack O'Donnell, 21, of 1110 North 18th street, Escanaba, was ticketed for excessive speed after a car he was driving struck another driven by Leonard Porath, 33, R. 1, Bark River, last evening at the intersection of Montana avenue and 16th street in Gladstone.

O'Donnell was driving west on Montana and Porath south on 16th street.

The O'Donnell auto rolled over two or three times after it struck the Porath car.

O'Donnell suffered hip and leg bruises. Tom Kholm, 21, 418 Ludington street, Escanaba, a passenger in the O'Donnell auto, had head bruises and an injured left shoulder. Porath was uninjured.

Rapid River

Legion Auxiliary

RAPID RIVER — The Ladies' Auxiliary to the American Legion met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. May Whipple. After the business session games were played. Mrs. Ruby Norden had high score. Mrs. Sadie Minor was low and Mrs. Hilda Larson received the evening award. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edna Young.

Royal Neighbor Picnic

The Royal Neighbors' local camp will hold a picnic at the Tourist park Tuesday, August 22. The outing is for members and their families. Pot luck supper for which each family is to provide. The camp will furnish ice cream. Each member is requested to provide an article to be used as a prize in the games.

Calvary Aid Meeting

Esther Society of Calvary Lutheran church will meet at the church Thursday, August 24.

Ice Cream Social

The Guild of Calvary Lutheran church is sponsoring an ice cream social Wednesday evening beginning at 8 at the church. A program will be presented during the social.

Briefs

Mrs. William Belland of Rapid River who was taken to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., by ambulance plane, submitted to major surgery and is reported making satisfactory progress toward recovery. Mr. Belland who accompanied her there came back to Rapid River Tuesday and is returning to Rochester this weekend. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Belland of Canal Zone, Panama, and a daughter Dorothy of Washington, D. C., also are in Rochester with her.

Ford River

Miss Mary Simonette Traude of Alameda, Calif., is visiting her aunt, Miss Blanche Traude. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Petersen of Chicago are guests at the Sensiba cottage at Ford River.

Fair Winners In Needlework Are Announced

Winners in the needlework department of the U. P. State Fair in 1950, as announced by the fair board, are as follows:

Special Awards

Best bedspreads—Mrs. Alice VanEnkevort, Escanaba; best crocheted article—Mrs. Olga E. Nelson, Escanaba; centerpiece; best knitted article—Clara Corriveau, Munising, Mich.; best quilt—Mrs. Elmer Nicholson, Escanaba; best rug—Mrs. M. Martin, Escanaba.

Winners of special award ribbons are invited to exhibit their articles at the 1950 Michigan State Fair. The special ribbon will designate the exhibit as a special U. P. State Fair display, entitling the winner to free entry of the exhibit and a complimentary pass to the 1950 Michigan State Fair. Winners are asked to write the Home Arts Department, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3, Michigan, for a copy of the premium book and an entry blank.

Crochet Work

Valley Stream

A Compact,
Well-Planned House

Rooms ..... six
Bedrooms ..... three Closets ..... seven
Cubage ..... 22,500 ft.
Dimensions ..... 42' x 27'

The use of window blinds will be in perfect harmony with the architecture of "The Valley Stream" and will, as a matter of fact, greatly enhance the exterior appearance of the house by adding to its "quaint" charms. A colorful asphalt shingle roof will provide a bright, cheerful note—especially if white is selected as the exterior finish for the side walls.

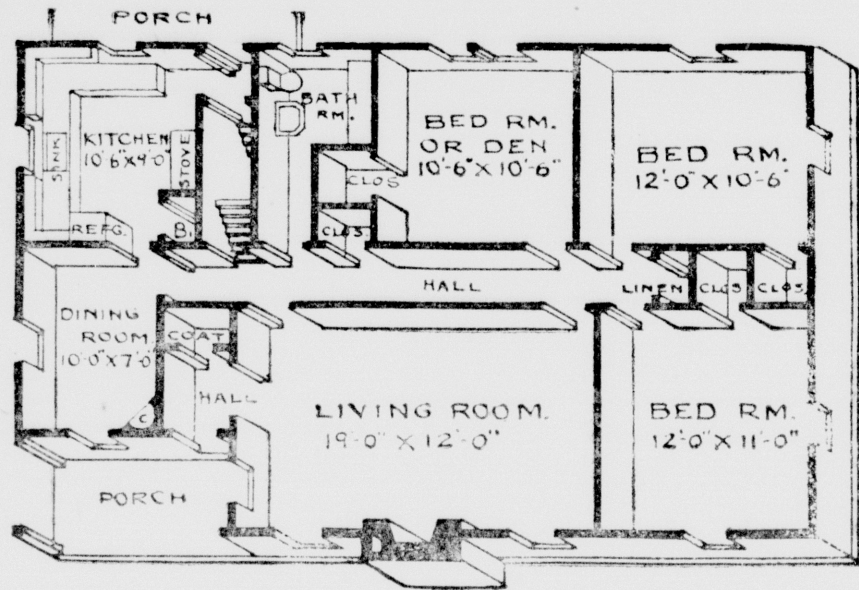

With over-all dimensions of 42' x 27', "The Valley Stream" has a cubage of 22,500 feet. A 60 foot lot is recommended for this house. Although no garage is specified in the plans, you could easily arrange to have one constructed if you so desire. If a garage is to be added you would, of course, need a larger lot.

The recessed porch, which can be screened if desired, provides protection for visitors, as well as for members of the household while they're looking for that front door key. There's a good sized coat closet at the end of small entry hall. A closet in the entry hall is a "must" in modern home planning, because it serves so many essential storage purposes for both the family and guests.

Large Fireplace
An open archway on the right connects with the 10' x 12' living room. The large fireplace, centered in the front wall, is flanked by windows looking out on the simply landscaped front yard. A window in the left wall faces the porch.

Two unbroken wall areas, the right and back walls, make attractive furniture arrangement an easy task for even the most fastidious home decorator. Perhaps you'd like to put your television set in this room, where there certainly is ample room.

There are two doors leading from the living room into the central hallway that connects with all the other rooms in the house. At the left end of this hallway is the 10' x 7' dining room. With windows on two exposures the dining room is well-lighted and pleasant.

Because of the built-in china cabinet the lady-of-the-house won't have to use regular china cabinets—a space saving feature that is especially useful in small dining rooms. Large buffets seem out of place in small dining rooms and too massive or ornate a dining room set will dwarf the room. Take pains in selecting furniture for this room and give preference to simple, modern designs.

Every inch of the kitchen is planned around preparing meals and cleaning up afterwards. A small section in the rear corner under the window could be set aside as the breakfast nook.

Directly across the room from the breakfast nook is the suggested location for the refrigerator. In an L arrangement the working counters, with cupboards above and below, extend along the side and back wall. Under the window in the side wall is the excellent location selected for the sink.

Another window, facing out on the back porch, provides further light for the kitchen. You'll find that against the right wall is a perfect location for the stove, as there it is near all sections of the working counter and near the refrigerator, as well.

Good Home Planning

Just one more of the features of good home planning included in "The Valley Stream" is the handy location of the modern bath and two closets which separate the bathroom from the adjoining bedroom.

Both of spacious size, one of the closets opens on the hall, the other in the bedroom. This room, which can be used as a den if preferred, is 10'6" square and has double windows in the back wall. Because of its long unbroken right wall this room could be turned into a boy's bedroom with popular bunk beds installed along this section. If the room is used as a den, bookshelves could be installed along this wall section.

Resembling each other in appearance, the other two bedrooms are almost identical in measurements. The front bedroom is 12' x 11' in dimensions while the back bedroom is 12' x 10'6". Both rooms have large clothes closets and windows on two exposures.

A large linen closet is centrally located between the two bedrooms at the end of the central hallway.

Requiring a full cement cellar, "The Valley Stream" provides plenty of basement area for recreational and storage purposes as well as for the installation of heating and laundry facilities. The heating equipment should be placed under the living room, the laundry under the kitchen or both.

Winter Good Time
For Interior Work

Winter months are an excellent time of the year to do, or have done, the interior painting and remodeling which is necessary or desirable. Walls and woodwork are dry and in condition to receive paint or varnish, providing that the surfaces have been properly prepared. The dry, warmed house atmosphere is free from humidity and freshly painted surfaces will dry well.

The painters and carpenters, at this season, have more time than during the "spring rush" and can work more comfortably than in hot weather.

Interior redecoration during the fall and winter may be a new idea to many, but it is thoroughly practical and work done during these seasons is apt to be more satisfying and more economical than the same work done at other times of the year.

THE HEATILATOR FIREPLACE circulates heat to every corner of the room and adjoining rooms. Saves the heat that ordinary fireplaces waste up the chimney. The scientifically designed heating chamber of the Heatilator Fireplace is concealed in the masonry where it draws cool air from floor level, heats it, and returns it to the room.

Heatilator installation eliminates the usual causes of smoking. It saves fuel bills during cool weather. Puts no limit on mantel design. Adds but little to the cost of the finished fireplace.

Phyllis Spade
James A. Anderson
Exchange Vows

Bouquets of white gladioli and pink pompons were arranged with the lighted altar candles for the wedding this morning of Phyllis Marie Spade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Spade of 1405 Lake Shore Drive, and James A. Anderson of Park River, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Anderson.

The vows were spoken before Father Stephen, O. F. M., at 10 o'clock, nuptial high mass. St. Joseph's choir sang the music for the wedding mass and Miss Eva Cossette played the traditional bridal processional and recessional.

The bride wore a colonial period gown of white marquisette with a hoop skirt. Imported lace trimmed the neckline and formed inserts in the train. Her hand embroidered veil, fingertip length, was caught to a headdress of orange blossoms. She carried white gladioli and roses with matching streamers.

Aides in Nile Green

Nile green marquisette was worn by the bride's sisters, Mrs. Eugene Jung of Milwaukee who was matron of honor and Mrs. Priscilla Spade, bridesmaid. The colonial gowns were styled with puffed sleeves with lace trim and hoop skirts caught up in front with ruffles of inserted lace. Large picture hats with matching marquisette roses completed their costumes. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and white mums with matching streamers.

Mrs. Spade attended her daughter's wedding in a dressmaker suit of aqua rayon gabardine with pink and white accessories. Mrs. Anderson wore a pale green rayon facemore lace dinner dress with coral accessories. Their corsages were of harmonizing shade.

Mr. Anderson's best man was his brother, Kenneth. Eugene Jung of Milwaukee was groomsman and ushering the guests to their places were the bride's brothers, Douglas and Phillip Spade.

The wedding breakfast for thirty guests, members of the two families, was served at noon at Tom Swift's in Park River and the reception for 300 is being held this afternoon at the Delta.

Honeymoon in Canada

The newlyweds after a honeymoon in Canada will live in Park River. The bride, a graduate of St. Joseph high school, has been employed in the comptroller's offices at the Escanaba city hall. Her husband, a graduate of Escanaba high school, is in business with his father.

Wedding guests included Mrs. Oscar Spade of Coldwater, Mich.; Jack Spade, Kalamazoo; Phillip Spade, Rockford, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Spade and Roxanna, Rockford; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jung, Miss Priscilla Spade, Miss Lorraine Neadeau, Miss Patricia Rivard and Frank Fuss, Milwaukee; Mrs. Caroline Guttler of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Carl Malstrom of Washington, D. C.

Church Events

Immanuel Aid Meeting—The Ladies' Aid of Immanuel Lutheran church will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. Olaf Peterson, Mrs. Ralph Norman and Mrs. Lars Anderson are hostesses. The meeting is for members and friends.

Bethany Missionary Society—The Young Woman's Missionary society of the Bethany Lutheran church will hold a picnic Monday evening at Louis Buehler's home. Members are asked to bring their own table service and to meet at the church at 6 p. m. Hostesses are Dagny Beck, Alvah Hedsten, Gladys Magnuson and Eleanor Buehler.

SPEAKS VOWS—Mrs. Robert W. Kelin who was married today in St. John de Nepomuc church in Milwaukee is the former Ellen Mary Hendricks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hendricks, of Milwaukee, whose former home was Escanaba. The couple will be at home after a honeymoon in the east and in Canada at 2730 West Glendale avenue, Milwaukee.

Helen Jane Barry
Honored At Shower

Miss Helen Jane Barry, bride-elect, was honored at a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Barry, 1304 First avenue south. Hostesses were Mrs. Eldridge Baker and Mrs. Alphonsus Sendenburgh.

Bridal motifs and flowers were used in effective decorations for the party.

Mrs. Robert Holt, Mrs. Ed McDonough and Mrs. William Herms had high scores in bridge. Mrs. William Disson, Mrs. Chester Calouette and Mrs. Arthur Houk were high in canasta, and Mrs. Emil Perow had high score in 500. The guest award was received by Mrs. Arthur Barron.

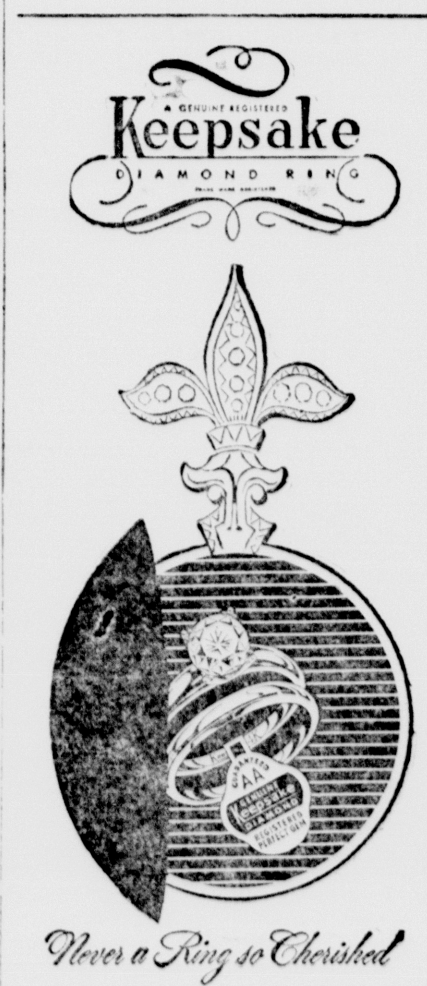

Miss Barry, whose marriage to John S. Pavela of LaCrosse, Wis., is taking place September 2, was presented with many lovely gifts for her new home.

Church Music
Institute To Be Held Here

One hundred fifty church organists, priests, music teachers and persons interested in church music are expected to attend a diocesan institute of church music to be held in Bonifas auditorium here next week.

A similar institute was held at Houghton this week, with more than 100 persons in attendance. Rev. Fr. John H. Olivier, S.S., formerly of Marquette, and Rev. Fr. Wilbur Gibbs of Marquette will be in charge.

Sessions begin at 9:30 a. m. Monday and will be held each day through Friday. Morning mass at 9 a. m. will precede the instruction period and benediction will follow in the afternoon.

Miss Hendricks
Is Bride Today,
Wed In Milwaukee

At a nuptial mass service at 10 this morning at St. John the Neponomuc church in Milwaukee, Miss Ellen Mary Hendricks became the bride of Robert W. Kelin. The service was performed by Father William J. Zelly. White gladioli decorated the church. Besides the traditional nuptial mass music, "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day" were sung as solos.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hendricks of Milwaukee, former residents of Escanaba, chose for her wedding gown white chantilly lace over white satin with long sleeves and a full skirt. The chantilly lace trim, which secured her white fingertip illusion veil, was trimmed with lilies of the valley. She carried a prayer book and white orchids.

Bridal Aides

Mrs. Louis R. Gilbert, Milwaukee, was matron of honor, and Miss Catherine Carlisle, Milwaukee, was an aide with Miss Helen Sloulin, LaCrosse, Wis. The attendants wore white organdy over blue taffeta. Complimenting their costumes were white shirred marquisette brims trimmed with blue taffeta ribbons and bouquets of pink tea roses and blue delphiniums.

William Kelin, Milwaukee, was his brother's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Kelin, Milwaukee, are the parents of the young men. Completing the wedding party were Alfred Seidl, Anthony Helminak, William Miles, and Louis R. Gilbert, all of Milwaukee.

A rehearsal dinner was held at the Boulevard Inn Friday night. After the wedding ceremony a breakfast was served with covers for eight at the Elks Club in Milwaukee.

The bride's mother wore grey chantilly lace over satin with a petal pink hat and accessories. Her corsage was a pale purple orchid. Mrs. Kelin, mother of the bridegroom, wore an aquamarine crepe afternoon dress with cocoa brown hat and accessories. Complimenting her ensemble was an orchid corsage.

Wedding Trip

For going away, the young Mrs. Kelin wore a powder blue woosuit with navy blue accessories. After honeymooning in the eastern states and southern Canada, the newlyweds will be at home at 2730 West Glendale avenue, Milwaukee. The bride attended Rosary College, River Forest, Ill., and was graduated from Northwestern university where she affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta. She now is a member of the Whitefish Bay public school faculty. Mr. Kelin is a graduate of the Marquette university school of engineering. He is employed at Allis Chalmers.

A number of out-of-town relatives and friends attended the wedding. From Escanaba, were Mrs. C. E. Bartley, Mrs. G. C. Bartley, Mrs. John Greis, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Johnson and Karyle, Dr. and Mrs. V. K. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hirm, Mrs. Francis Langenfeld, Mrs. Bernard St. Onge, and Mrs. James Powers.

(Additional classes will be added if interest warrants)

RULES

1. The Contest is open to everybody, men, women and children. Contest opens with the legal fishing season and closes on September 15. Envelopes containing entries must bear a postmark not later than September 15, 1950, to be eligible.

2. All fish entered in the contest must be caught in public waters or Upper Michigan during the open season in the respective fish class.

3. Contest is limited to fish taken with hook and line. Any legal lure may be used. Lake trout must be caught on a rod or line freely held in the hand and not attached to a boat.

4. All information asked for on the entry blank should be supplied. Failure to give length and girth may disqualify entries. Fish must be weighed on tested scales and measured with a steel tape measure. The length taken from the end of the lower jaw with the mouth closed to the tip of the tail, and the greatest girth of the fish taken. Weight may be given dressed or in the round or both.

5. In the wall-eyed pike and black bass classes a photograph is desirable to be sure of identity of the species.

6. In the event of two or more fish weighing and measuring exactly the same, identical trophies will be awarded. Greatest measurements will decide the winner when weights are approximately equal.

7. Accompany your entry with a photograph of yourself or the fish or both together with a brief story of how, where and when the fish was caught. A photograph is not essential to win an award but it is desirable.

8. The entry blank printed above, or an exact copy must be used. It must be signed by the person catching the fish and by two witnesses who examined the fish and verified its weight and measurements. The contestant agrees, if requested to do so by the judges, to furnish an affidavit attesting to the truth of all statements made in the entry.

9. Contestants may make as many entries in all classes as they wish.

PRIZE AWARDS
In each of the classes the angler entering the fish which is adjudged to be the largest in its class will receive a trophy in recognition of his or her accomplishment.

Additional blanks may be had free of charge by addressing Outdoors Editor, Escanaba Daily Press, Escanaba, Michigan.

Democrats Face Tough Opposition This Fall

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON—Democrats in Congress up for re-election are rapidly realizing the cruel dilemma they face in the campaign this fall. They must support at least tacitly the policies of their party. Yet those policies, whether as a deliberate consequence or by accident, are unimportant in a war for which this country was in no way prepared.

CHILDS

The reverse have caused widespread anger and dismay. This is true even though the holding operation by American forces, judged by objective military observers, has been executed with skill. In view of the heavy balance in favor of the Reds it has been remarkably successful.

The conflict in Korea is the kind of limited war that the American public finds it difficult to rationalize or even to understand. The evidence is growing, particularly as reflected in letters to congressmen, that the Korean war has produced great confusion and uncertainty.

Fight Against Communism
To begin with it is difficult to personalize the struggle. There is no Kaiser, no Hitler. Stalin is a distant figure who talks about peace.

The fight is against an abstraction called communism. For far too many people, both here and abroad, this abstraction seems to mean little when it comes to the blood, sweat and tears of sacrifice. They ask in letters coming in increasing numbers why American boys are fighting in a distant land, and why taxes are going to have to be increased so drastically.

All this was focussed in the statement of the Republicans on the Senate foreign relations committee. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts has now explained that this was not intended as an attack on the Democrats, but as a constructive approach to preparedness to meet the menace of communism everywhere.

Lodge and Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey may have intended the statement that way. But, Senators Bourke B. Hickenlooper and Alexander Wiley the other signers, both up for re-election, were certainly not blind to the political meaning of the document.

The Republican policy statement, which drew angry replies from Democrats on the foreign relations committee, suggests the wide range of the Republican attack in the fall. Senators like Lodge and Smith, who have supported the bi-partisan foreign policy in the past, will inveigh against diplomatic and military failures of the past, at the same time that they demand more sacrifices and greater urgency in preparing to meet the attack of communism.

Some Denounce War
At the other extreme of Republicanism, senators of the stamp of William E. Jenner of Indiana and George Malone of Nevada will denounce the war itself and American involvement in it. They will not hesitate to use the crudest isolationist and America first appeals. Even a Republican hopeful so far out of the political picture as Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, has come out in a radio address accusing the administration of being "one of the most incompetent in our nation's lifetime."

Thus, from both flanks the Democrats will be under fire. How to answer this fire without sounding merely negative and defensive is yet to be solved.

Perhaps the greatest handicap the Democrats suffer under is the fact that domestic issues are pretty much eclipsed. And it was on domestic issues that the Democratic high command had relied to get out the labor vote in an off year election. Without a turn-out approaching that of the presidential year of 1948, when a little more than half the eligible voters cast their ballots, the Democrats will be in trouble. An interesting illustration is Connecticut. Governor Chester Bowles won over his Republican opponent in '48 by a handful of votes. During his brief term he has vigorously pushed reforms in government and education. But now the Republicans have named Representative John Davis Lodge (Henry Cabot's brother) to run against him; Lodge can dwell on his specialty which is the failure of American policy in the Far East. While this won't have much relation to what is happening in Connecticut, the voters will be likely to listen.

The obvious mistakes and failures of an administration long in power stand out glaringly at this time of crisis. Realizing the awesome nature of this crisis, we can only hope that the division over the war will not go too deep. Yet politics in a political year is politics in spite of anything.

111 Cedar StreetShaw Hospital Has Been SoldWill Be Used As Home For Aged

The Shaw hospital, which ceased operations when the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital went into service, will continue to be used in a public service capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wendland, who for the past three years have been conducting a convalescent home at their residence at Manistique Heights, purchased the property from Dr. George Shaw Thursday and will operate it as a place of domicile for ailing and aged people.

The present Wendland home, which has 12 rooms, has long been inadequate for the needs of this type of service. Mrs. Wendland states that they have been able to care for about fifteen people in these quarters, but requests for care have been much greater than this. In the Shaw hospital building, she said, they will be able to care for from 20 to 25 people and at the same time maintain living quarters on a more satisfactory basis. She states that very little remodeling of the place will be required and that they expect to move and be settled in their new quarters in about ten days.

The Wendlands are making a request of the public. For the time being until they are settled in their new home they ask that there be no visiting of the patients. There are, to be sure, cases where visits are necessary and every consideration will be accorded these people, but they would rather not have the usual commotion come until operations incidental to moving are completed.

Trenary

TRENNARY — Members of the Trenary Lions club and their families held their second annual picnic at Farmers' Lake Sunday afternoon. The committees were: games, Joseph Grawey, Larry Olila and John Webber; ice cream, William Quarford, Arnold Hill and Leonard Kaukolola; pop, John Pallett; equipment and table arrangements, Carl Holmquist, Clyde Spilmacher and Frank Praznik; clean-up, John Knaus, Edmond Ouellette, Robert Debelek, Francis Flinn and Arthur Scott; publicity, William Bucholtz. Edward Roberts was general chairman.

Social

Legion Auxiliary Picnic

The American Legion Auxiliary held its annual picnic this week at the Indian Lake State Park. A delicious potluck dinner was served, after which the members proceeded to the Legion Club rooms where a short business meeting was held. Mrs. Martha Malloch was elected as the third delegate to the Legion convention at Grand Rapids and Mrs. Annette Huber, alternate. After the meeting "card buncos" was played and four lovely prizes were awarded. First prize to Annette Huber; second to Lalla Martin; third to Mayme Lafluth and low to Virginia Grimley. This is the first picnic to all members of the Auxiliary that election of officers will be held at the Legion Club rooms the first week in September and all members are requested to be present. Two guests were present at the picnic, Mrs. D. J. Ward of Ohio and Mrs. Heinz of Indian Lake.

4-H Hobby Soxers

A regular meeting of the 4-H Hobby Soxers was held at the home of Mrs. John Manning. During the business meeting Camp Shaw was discussed and three members who had attended the camp described the activities there. A delicious lunch was served and fun was had by all. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Walters.

Feted At Shower

Miss Helen Chernesky was honored at a miscellaneous shower given for her by Mrs. Russell Brunet on Wednesday evening. # U. P. Girls' Softball Tournament Opens Tonight; Star Tilt Slated

Opening Game Set For 6:30

For the second successive weekend, Escanaba will have a softball tournament.

This time it is the Upper Peninsula girls' tournament, which opens tonight at 6:30 at Memorial field. Play will continue tomorrow morning with finals tomorrow afternoon.

Tim & Sally's of Escanaba meet the Bruce's Crossing Girls in the opening game tonight at 6:30 at Memorial field. The out-of-town team have a strong aggregation lead by Clarann Dally who pitched her team into the finals last year. She performed an "iron-man" stunt by pitching three games in one day. The Escanaba entry is the youngest team in the tournament and will be relying on its usual battery of Carol Pilon and Ruby Stoykovich.

At 8 p. m. the Escanaba Delta Hardware's tangle with the Iron River Athletic Association entry. The Hardware's have one of the outstanding records in girls' softball, having defeated all teams they played this year. Coach Roy Jensen will call on Marge Hurley or Gail Boucher to pitch with Barbara Jensen catching. Nothing is known of the caliber of the Iron River A. A. but they have been playing for the last several seasons.

Continues Sunday

Fans will be treated to a real inter-sectional battle when the Menominee Maids take on the Lake Linden Maple Leafs at 9:30. The Maple Leafs boast a 13-3 record, suffering their third defeat in the finals of the Copper Country tournament last Sunday. Local fans who have seen the slants of Babe Heckel, star pitcher of the Maids, feel sure that the Menominee team will go a long way in the tournament. The Maids have an enviable record and are one of the favorites in this tournament. All three games are being played at the Memorial lighted field tonight.

Competition will continue Sunday morning at 11:00 with games at three different diamonds. Royce Park will have Marquette Girls against the star-studded, Copper Country Jeanettes from Hanger. Coach Dick Dorman will start his veteran slinger, Marion Anderson, who is widely-known to local fans. Corinne Plasse was voted the most valuable pitcher in the recent tournament held in the Copper Country so this looks like another pitcher's battle.

At the lighted field, Neegaunee, 1949 champions, which drew a bye, will meet the winner of the Menominee-Lake Linden game. Another local entry, the Home Ecs will meet the winner of the Iron River-Delta Hardware game at the Dock diamond. The Home Ecs currently are in second place in the Escanaba City league. Beverly Burt will be the probable starting pitcher with Shirley Legg on the receiving end.

Form Association

The semi-finals and finals will be played at Memorial field beginning at 1:00 Sunday. The championship game will be played at 5 o'clock. Presentation of the trophy to the champions and a special trophy to the most valuable player will be made. This award will be voted upon by the representatives of the teams competing in the tournament.

A meeting will be held before the championship game to form an Upper Michigan Girls' Softball association. Managers of teams entered in the tournament and representatives of other cities that are interested in the formation of this association are invited to attend. The meeting will be held at the announcers booth. Officers will be elected and plans will be made for future schedules and tournaments.

MSC Ends Suit Against Athlete

CHICAGO — (AP) — The court skirmish between Michigan State college and a former athlete is now at an end.

Michigan State yesterday withdrew the $217 suit it had brought against Robert F. Hall, 21, who had aspired to a football career on the Michigan campus.

However, Hall said he had to call college in 1948 because MSC hadn't made good on a promise to give him a job that would pay his way.

Some time ago MSC brought its suit, alleging that Hall, a former Morgan Park high school star here, owed the $217 for tuition, room and board, and a loan.

Hall's lawyer, Francis A. Cuisinier, said his client hadn't been able to support himself on a 60 cents an hour, two-hour a day job at MSC.

Cuisinier said MSC had reneged on a promise. MSC officials said that wasn't quite so.

As it wound up, Cuisinier said he wasn't going to file a counterclaim, as he had threatened, since MSC had dropped its suit.

The college, he added, agreed to pay court costs of $8.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

Elsewhere on this page you'll find a communication from Bill Doucette on softball.

We welcome Doucette's letter. There's nothing we like better than constructive criticism.

And it's always good to have people get things off their chests. They feel better.

If we're permitted, we'd like to comment on Doucette's letter.

In the first place, Bill, we'll challenge you to find any place where we have made a derogatory statement about softball as a game.

As far as we can remember, we have never uttered one word of criticism of the game nor ever said softball players were "interfering with baseball," as Doucette implies.

Nor have we ever said that softball "meddles in the affairs of baseball."

Our stand on baseball and softball all year has been simply this:

- (1) There's no use having a baseball (Bears) team all year long if everyone is going to leave during the softball tournaments, thereby disrupting Escanaba's participation in baseball leagues. This has been done many times in the past and makes Escanaba an undesirable member of any baseball league.
- (2) Every major league official will tell you that the chances of a young baseball player becoming a success in the majors are infinitely less if he plays softball. The timing is too different. Bill cites the case of Luke Easter, who played softball before he went to the majors. We'd like to cite the famed case of Lou Novikoff of the Cubs who wouldn't give up softball and ruined what looked like a promising major league career.

Doucette's letter gives the impression that we have been trying to kill softball in Escanaba.

On the contrary, we think we've done well by softball.

We checked through the files and here's what we found:

1. Since softball season started we have carried 103 stories on softball on our sport page.
  2. These stories have totaled more than 575 inches of space, or almost 30 full columns.
  3. Fifteen of the stories have had top play. One of them carried a streamer—one of only two streamers the sport page has had since we took over in April (the other was on the Cubs winning the U. P. title).
- We remember using a three column headline on the story on May 23 when Bill Doucette pitched a no hit game.
- In our handling of softball news, we've had excellent help from Paul Vardigan, Escanaba's King of Softball. And if anyone doubts that we've cooperated with Paul on any softball matter, he might ask Paul. We'll stand indicted on Paul's answer.

Communication

To the Sports Editor:

After reading your Sports column "Spilling the Dope," especially during the past three months, I'm convinced that you need a new BUCKET, one that isn't so tipsy.

Ever since the opening of the baseball season you have been pecking away against softball. First we were interfering with baseball, then the two games would be incompatible and that baseball should be divorced from softball.

Also at that time the local hard ball team told the boys—play baseball and that only or get out. "Spilling the Dope" tells us that as a result of this action several good ball players were lost because they did not wish to quit playing softball. It's very lamentable as you might say that the boys do not stick to the National Game just because they enjoy the sport of playing ball no matter what game it may be.

There are several boys who played baseball with out-of-town teams this year. They also rate among the best ball players in the community irrespective of what kind of ball they played.

Perhaps it's true a softball player may not become a Ted Williams or a Joe Di Maggio, but did you know that Luke Easter, Cleveland's first baseman, started his career as a softball player? It was also while playing this game that he first attracted the attention of big league scouts. It all boils down to this: Become proficient enough, whatever the game may be and your talent will be recognized.

I believe that baseball is one of the greatest of national sports but I also believe in giving credit to any other sports activity that is deserving of the name "sports."

Softball today is one of our fastest growing sports and it is possible through its popularity that it may reach the point where it will be played professionally as in the major leagues.

Locally most all softball games are played after supper with the exception of some tournament games. We do not intend to kneedle in the affairs of hardball and have never did. There is plenty of room in Escanaba for both.

I believe you attended at least one game during our last district tournament but I just wonder if you saw the King and His Court last Monday night. The enthusiastic response of the fans at all these games should erase any doubt as to the popularity of softball in our community.

We softball players are proud of our game and we have no complaints; all we ask is please give us a break and ease up the pecks against softball.

A Softball Player and Booster.

BILL DOUCETTE,
1102 N. 18th St.

Managers Pick 2 Players Each

The annual All-Star games next Thursday night highlight next week's activity in the local softball leagues as all teams swing back into action for the first time since the district tournament. Managers will select the players who will participate and these selections must be turned in to the Association no later than Monday night's meeting at the Youth Center.

Each manager is asked to name at least two players for each position in addition to coaches and a manager for each team. Two National league teams will be chosen from these lists and they will meet in the first game Thursday at 7 o'clock. From the names turned in by American league managers, two teams will be picked to play each other at 9:00 o'clock. All proceeds will go to the Escanaba Softball Association.

Meeting Monday

The Upper Peninsula regional softball tournament will be held at Ironwood Aug. 26 and 27. The following teams from this district plan to compete: Paper Mill, Harnischfeger Red Sox, Hughes Motors, Larrys Bar of Gladstone, NuWay Cleaners, Merchants, Clairmont Transfer, U. M. Power & Light, Maple Grove and Escanaba Steam Laundry.

An important meeting of the Escanaba Softball association has been called by Rev. A. A. Schbow at the City Youth Center on South 14th street Monday night at 7:30. Plans for the city tournament will be discussed and the question of sending another class A team to the Upper Peninsula tournament at Ironwood will be brought up. Managers, players, and interested fans are invited to attend.

Injury Gives Williams Time For Flycasting

CALAIS, Me. — (AP) — All Ted Williams asked today was good weather that wouldn't cramp his fly-casting style.

The Red Sox batting star, here for a weekend of fishing, jovially challenged others in his party to match his catch with a flyrod. Williams controls the gayly-colored lures well enough to give exhibitions.

Williams is fishing with Dr. J. H. Shortell of Boston, who operated on the elbow. Ted injured in the all star baseball game.

Tigers Rained Out Once More

Weather May Decide Race In American

DETROIT — (AP) — The weather man is beginning to play a role as an important odd party in the campaign of the Detroit Tigers for the American league pennant.

Last night the Tigers and the St. Louis Browns ran up against their jinx—rain—and had to forget about playing baseball.

As the race nears the last hard run for the money, postponements and cancelled games can add up to something not to be scoffed at.

A group of contests "lost" from the schedule could very well make a difference.

The Tigers and Browns, with a possible switch in Tiger pitching plans, were to try it again today at Briggs stadium. But it wasn't too promising. The forecast was for "scattered light afternoon showers."

While the Tigers couldn't play last night, neither could their closest challengers, the Cleveland Indians, so the Bengal lead stayed at three games. Chicago and Cleveland were rained out.

The Yankees won from Philadelphia, 3 to 2, to come within four games.

Tiger Manager Red Rolfe had intended to use Hank Borowy against the Browns last night. For today, however, he might switch to either Art Houtteman or Hal Nephouser.

The Browns were expected to rely on Ned Garver, who gave Detroit a tough time the last time he faced the league leaders.

Rock Wins Playoff Game With Cornell

ROCK — Rock won the replay of a disputed game with Cornell here last night. The score was 7 to 5.

Under a ruling of league Commissioner Ed (Bud) Gibbs, the game had to be replayed starting from the sixth inning with Rock leading, 6-5, and having men on second and third with two men out.

Vadeen was the winning pitcher.

Softball

OLDTIMERS LEAGUE

Phoenix Lumber 16, Daily Press 12; Birds Eye over Northern Motors, forfeit.

St. Joe Boosters 8, Eagles 7, 18 innings.

Eagles-Brown Clash Is Game Of Century

NEW YORK — (AP) — On the night of Sept. 16, four weeks from today, they are going to play in Philadelphia a football game which comes close to being the greatest attraction ever staged on any gridiron.

That admittedly is taking in a lot of turf, and we probably will hear from the bowl promoters about this. The fact that a couple of professional clubs are involved probably will inflame the more virulent old grads who think football begins and ends on the campus.

But if a meeting between the Philadelphia Eagles, champions of the National league, and the Cleveland Browns, who dominated the All-America conference through its too-brief career, isn't the "natural" of the century, then you name it.

Incidentally, that will be quite

DiMag's Homer Wins; May Be Flag Spark

(By The Associated Press)

Can Joe Di Maggio do it again? The Yankee Clipper's dramatic ninth inning home run in Philadelphia last night recalls his stirring deeds of 1949. How he came off the bench, plagued by injuries, to loosen a home run flurry that spurred New York to the American league pennant.

So far Di Maggio has been a bitter disappointment in 1950. So much of a flop that Manager Casey Stengel benched him last week for a "rest." They whispered Joe was washed up. Said he never again could demand $100,000 for a year's salary. Maybe they were wrong.

Restored to his old No. 4 cleanup spot in the batting order last night, Di Maggio responded with a home run that shaded Philadelphia, 3-2. It was his first homer and first run batted in since July 30.

Di Maggio went hitless until the ninth of a tight battle between the Yankees' Vic Raschi and the A's Lou Brissie. With one out and nobody on base, he hit Brissie's first pitch 400 feet into the upper left field stands at Shibe park.

It was an important win for the Yankees because both Detroit and Cleveland were rained out. As a result New York gained a half game on each and now trails the league-leading Tigers by four games.

Boston reeled off its sixth straight at Fenway park 7-6, after a 10-inning struggle with Washington. Bobby Doerr's 21st homer off Elmer Singleton, leading off the tenth, broke up the game. The Red Sox also gained on the Tigers and Indians. They are six games out of first place.

Brooklyn chewed a full game off the Phillies' lead in the National as that race also tightened. By whipping Boston, 8-3, while New York dumped the Phils, 7-4, the Dodgers moved to within 5 1/2 games of first place.

Big Jim Hearn's $10,000 bonus bargain, beat the Phils for the second time within a week. The ex-St. Louis Cardinals, right-hand, allowed only five hits including homers by Andy Seminick and Willie Jones.

Hearn never has lost to the Phils, either as a giant or Cardinal. His lifelong record is 7-0 against that club. It was his fifth victory to one loss since joining the Giants.

Carl Erskine almost lasted the route last night for the Dodgers. The rookie had a no-hitter until Sam Jethroe beat out an infield hit with two out in the sixth. After the Braves got to him for three in the eighth, Ralph Branca came in to relieve him in a ninth-inning jam.

Red Schoendienst' 11th inning single pushed St. Louis home in front of Cincinnati, 2-1. A throwing error by Grady Hatton set the stage for the winning single.

William Ramsdell just missed a shutout win in regulation time. He had two out and a 1-0 lead in the last of the ninth when Del Rice singled. Chuck Diering ran for Rice and scored on Nippy Jones' pinch double.

Pittsburgh staged a four-run first inning to flatten Chicago's Walt Dubiel, 9-3.

Ransom Plays His Hot Putter

BALTIMORE — (AP) — That blade putter another professional gave him may prove to be a $2,600 present for Henry Ransom. A cool Texan just one stroke off the pace as the eastern open golf tournament went into the third round today.

Ransom shot a glittering, 65 in yesterday's 18-hole installment. He cracked par by seven, tying the new course record set only the day before by mountaineer Clayton Heatter of Charlotte, N. C.

The performance offset Ransom's mediocre 73 on opening day Thursday and propelled him into the forefront of pros charging after the $2,600 top handout of the $16,500 earn.

Good putting is vital in the current tourney because of the enormous greens on the Mount Pleasant course.

Heatter, a little sadly, underscored the fact. He turned in a 65 on Thursday but yesterday he saw his lead vanish. When the magic of his approach shots dwindled and "I just wasn't putting well."

So he wound up with a par 72 and Jimmy Clark of Huntington Beach, Calif., slipped into a first place tie with him after adding a 66 to his 71 opening effort for 137.

Ransom was tied for second place at the halfway mark with a 138, sharing the score with John Palmer of Badin, N. C.

'Stique Gridders May See MSC Tilt

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Lions Club has voted to launch a plan to send the Manistique high school football team to a Michigan State college game in East Lansing in October.

Appointed on a committee to make preliminary arrangements and arrange for financing the trip were George Babalada, F. E. Cookson and William L. Norton.

New Teachers Will Total 25

1950-51 Teaching Staff At 122

The Escanaba city schools will have 25 new teachers when the school year opens next month, bringing the total teaching staff to 122. It was announced today by Supt. John A. Lemmer.

Usually the teacher turn-over in Escanaba is small from one year to the next, but marriage, replacement of substitute teachers and other reasons accounted for the higher number this year.

Four of the teachers did not renew contracts because they married, three went to Japan to teach, two received fellowships at universities, four were substitute teachers who were replaced, seven left for other positions including jobs nearer home, one retired, and one resigned because of ill health.

Men In Grades

Besides replacing the 22 listed above, three additional teachers were hired. One will teach in the grades, and two will be added to the Junior high school staff where some classes last year were crowded.

The 25 new teachers hired for 1950-51 include the three men who will teach in the grades. The complete list of new teachers is as follows:

Jane Alexander of Madison, who will teach oral deaf students graduate of University of Wisconsin.

Charmion Bolles, Janesville, Wis., elementary, University of Wisconsin.

Janice Coles, Ironwood, music, Northern Michigan College of Education.

Diane Gibbons, Hurley, primary, University of Wisconsin.

John Jirikovac, Manitowish, elementary, Oshkosh State Teachers College.

Mary Ann Kreuter, West Bend, Wis., elementary, Wisconsin State.

Catherine McNamara, Manistiquette, primary, Northern Michigan College of Education.

Edith Marinelle, Vulcan, primary, Central Michigan College of Education.

Beverly Perry, Ishpeming, primary, Northern Michigan College of Education.

Marvin Paffenrath, Oshkosh, elementary, Oshkosh State Teachers College.

Eugene Reid, Hortonville, Wis., elementary, Oshkosh State Teachers College.

Faith Seegar, Downers Grove, Ill., kindergarten, DePaul University.

Vandela Sundquist of Escanaba, who has taught at Escanaba and Menominee, primary, Northern Michigan College of Education.

Patricia Twohig, St. Cloud, primary, Milwaukee State.

Joan Hyack, Wakefield, who has taught at Menominee, to teach art, graduate Michigan State College.

Junior High

Get Out Of Town, City Dweller; Experts Say You're Going Crazy

DILEMMA OF THE CITIES: "Magnificent progress" has been made to provide housing and get people out of slum areas like the one at left, town planning experts admit. But they warn that endless reproduction of the same type of housing (right) creates a regimented, institutional appearance. As a solution, they recommend "super-neighborhoods" or "super-blocks."

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—

So you're a city slicker and live in the heart of New York, Chicago or Philadelphia. You're up to your chest in culture, foreign restau-

restaurants, the theater, first-run jokes, concert and art galleries. You're a cosmopolite.

But what you don't know, city man, is that you are slowly going whacky. Your kids are becoming delinquent and you're going broke in spite of what your bank balance says. The experts have discovered that it's soon going to be mentally and financially impossible to live in big cities.

In other words, city life in the U. S. has now reached its point of diminishing returns. The city dwellers are losing more mentally,

through the strains and confusions

of big-town life, than he is gaining culturally and intellectually.

Baruch Celebrates Birthday On Bench

NEW YORK — (P)—Bernard M. Baruch, the adviser to president, was 80 years old today.

His public celebration, however, was held yesterday at the bench in central park that has been the millionaire financier's informal "office" for years.

Tall and lean—he is six feet

four—Baruch posed in a crisp

white linen suit for cameramen

and joked with reporters, photographers and youngsters who wandered onto the scene.

From Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner, jr., he accepted the title of honorary

commissioner of Manhattan Borough Works.

If Army "Calls," 4 Churches Lose

DICKINSON, N. D.—(P)—Four

churches in this area will be without a pastor if Rev. Martin Wer-felman, an Army reservist, is called into active service.

He serves Redeemer Lutheran church here, Redeemer Lutheran church in Grassy Butte, St. Paul's

Lutheran church in Belfield and the Medora, N. D., Lutheran church.

Mr. Werfelman holds a commission as lieutenant in an infantry line outfit. He has received orders to take a physical examination in Fargo, N. D., Monday.

GUARD BACK HOME

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—

Dickinson county men of the 593rd

AA battalion of the National Guard arrived home last night

from Camp Haven, Wis., where they participated in two weeks of field training.

And he is having to spend more for psychiatrists, police protection, delinquent correction, traffic handling and remedial social services than the extra money he might earn by working in the city.

This problem directly affects half of the people in the U. S., too.

Half the American population lives in big cities, on one per cent of the nation's land. Indirectly it concerns a lot more than half because the trend to the city is increasing.

Census figures show that between 1940 and 1947 the 13 largest cities increased in population by 10.6 per cent and their suburbs by 19.2 per cent. A recent study in 12 big cities shows that 60 per cent of all post-war housing has been built in so-called suburbs. But moving to the suburbs isn't the answer, according to Paul Windels, president of the Regional Plan Association of New York.

"This expansion," he says, "has become a sprawl of the huge monolithic structure of the city spreading across the surrounding countryside like the flow of lava

from an erupting volcano. If present trends are allowed to continue without guidance or control,

there will ultimately result comparatively few solidly built-up metropolitan areas, roughly circular in shape, 25 and even 50

miles in diameter."

And what's to be done about all this? Both the situation and the solution were revealed at the recent 82nd Convention of the American Institute of Architects.

The answer is smaller cities within regions, Windels and other experts contend, or the building of super-neighborhoods.

The super-neighborhood, or super-block, about the size of three ordinary city blocks, would include shopping centers, schools, theaters, meeting places and apartments. The super-blocks would be linked by super-highways. And everybody would have his own vegetable patch.

The present expanding cities

which threaten to engulf nearby

small towns require regional planning, Lewis Mumford, and outstanding expert on problems of city planning, told the architects'

meeting. And the small town, he says, must work to stay a small town, instead of trying so hard to become a big city. He describes the ideal towns of the future:

"In areas where clusters of small towns may be developed,

the normal size of the small town will be between 20,000 and 50,000 people. In exceptional cases it might be 100,000. Each town will be surrounded by a permanent greenbelt, either established by a state zoning law, or owned by the city. There should never be more than 100 persons per acre

in the densest quarter."

Windels offers some practical preliminary organizational steps for achieving this vegetable garden utopia. First, he says the people have to be educated as to what is happening and told how to remedy the situation through efforts initiated by citizen groups,

rather than by public officials.

Then a National Commission on

Urban Population Distribution

should be established, followed by experiments to form "Metropolitan Districts," conforming to the boundaries established by the U.

S. Census.

Finally, he would bring Uncle

Sam into the picture because such decentralization and curbing of the "urban sprawl" is a vital defense against possible atomic bomb attack. Thus, in one package, you get paradise, a vegetable garden and a little better protection against frying in an A-bomb blast.
